A Message From... Rabbi Ilene Bogosian Interim Senior Rabbi

It is break time on the Jewish calendar. From Simchat Torah on the 23rd of Tishri, the month that began with Rosh HaShanah, until the 25th of Kislev when our observance of Chanukah starts, there are no Jewish holidays. The month that falls between Tishri and Kislev is the only month of the Jewish year that contains no festival observances. Marheshvan, the name of the vacant month, is derived from an Assyrian word meaning “eighth month.” Our tradition, however, has suggested that the “mar” in the name of the month be read as the Hebrew word mar, which means bitter. After all, we have to count off 62 long days before we reach another opportunity for celebration.

Personally, I am not so sure how mar the whole thing really is. Don't we need a rest after the long procession of Yom Tovim running from Rosh HaShanah to Simchat Torah? I know that I do. In the rhythm of the Jewish year, the month of Marheshvan is a time to inhale, a time to catch your breath. Shabbat, the pause that nourishes the soul, still happens in Marheshvan. The growing chill outdoors encourages us to curl up on Shabbat afternoons with a good book or a good conversation or for a good nap. There is even an opportunity to eat special foods and to appreciate all we have, supplied by the American tradition of Thanksgiving Day, which usually includes another opportunity for an afternoon nap.

What is the value of a time when nothing seems to be happening? What is going on while we rest? Rest allows us to gather nourishment, and to build our strength for whatever will follow. We dream while we rest. I hope that you will all take some time this month to do absolutely nothing. Enjoy the break, take a deep refreshing breath and let dreams be born.

A Progress Note From Your Rabbinic Search Committee:

The search process for our new permanent Senior Rabbi continues. Looking for those attributes identified in the course of our summer workshops as most valued by congregants, the committee has carefully reviewed several resumes from prospective candidates. We have scheduled preliminary interviews with a number of candidates and hope to invite the strongest applicants to Temple Israel for in-person interviews in the weeks ahead. Have a question or comment? You can reach the search committee at TICF2015@yahoo.com. Jeff Stoller is also available by phone at 272-7458.

Jewish Cultural Festival Meeting

Believe it or not the planning for the 2016 Jewish Cultural Festival will begin on Thursday, November 12 at 6:00 p.m. Plan on attending this informal meeting where we'll get to know each other and exchange ideas.

Rabbi Karen N. Bodney-Halasz
Jerome Epstein Family Director of Education

I have always associated November with giving thanks. Of course, this is partly due to Thanksgiving, but it is also from having just experienced the fall holidays and the opening of a new school year. I find myself looking back with gratitude at all of the hard work that has allowed us to reach this moment.

There are so many who work tirelessly to make our holidays, festivals, and gatherings special. In addition to the many names you will see throughout this Tablet, there are those who are behind the scenes and deserve to be thanked as well--our staff.

For all of their hard work in making everything run smoothly, I say thank you to Suzanne Shaw and Ellen Finke-McCarthy. They spend months preparing for these holidays, from compiling the Yizkor and High Holiday booklets, to organizing our break-the-fast, and setting up welcome tables. They are here before anyone else and stay well after everyone has left. In a year of great transition, their hard work and dedication to our community was evident in how seamlessly everything flowed. Many thanks to Annette Stogdill, as well, for her support in these tasks.

I also offer many thanks to Courtney Cummings, who not only provides beautiful music during our holiday services, but who also spends months assembling the quartet, running rehearsals, offering new creative ways for us to gather as a community, taking care to keep our photos by the sanctuary fresh and coordinating with hosts for Sukkahs in the City.

For those of us who have experienced the holidays at Temple before, we know what to expect. But that was not the case for our new full time maintenance man, Kayel Ogelsby. Kayel deserves our thanks for working hard to learn the ropes, keeping our building in immaculate condition, building our sukkah, and taking care of every last holiday detail, such as replacing the bulb in our Eternal Light.

Many thanks also go to Molly Blumer, our new Religious School Manager. Molly has spent much of her summer learning the ins and outs of our religious school, organizing materials, preparing teachers, and successfully launching our 5776 school year. Thank you as well to our dedicated Religious School Committee for the support you offer to Molly and me, helping to keep the Kibbitz Café running, and completely organizing our Sukkot dinner.

And, of course, thank you to our Interim Rabbi, Ilene Bogosian, for her important role in leading services, offering inspiring sermons, and patiently guiding our community through a year of great change.

As you can see, there is a great amount of work that takes place to get us to November. Thank you to each and every one of you who continues to help make Temple the welcoming spiritual home that it is. I am looking forward to an exciting year of new programs and opportunities. Baruch Atah Adonai Eloheinu Melech HaOlam shehechyanu v'kiyamanu v'higiyanu laz'man hazeh.

Bike and Brunch

Sunday, November 15 at 10:00 a.m. Join us for a leisurely ride on the Miami River Bike Trail, followed by a delicious brunch at a local downtown eatery. Bring your bike or rent one from Riverscape Rentals. RSVP by November 13 to Courtney.

Challah Baking

Thursday, November 19 at 6:00 p.m. Put on your apron and get ready to work those fingers! Join Chef Jeff Blumer from Whole Foods as he teaches you the tricks and techniques of how to produce a perfect - and healthy - loaf of challah for your Shabbat table. RSVP by November 16. Cost is $5 to cover materials.

Tot Shabbat

Are you a looking for a child-friendly Shabbat experience for your young children? Tot Shabbat has returned for you! Every few months we will have a 20-minute child-friendly service, followed by a craft project and pot luck dinner. Services will begin at 6:00 p.m., and you will be out in time to get young ones home or to attend the 7:30 p.m. service. The dates for Tot Shabbat this year are November 20, January 29 and April 15. The theme for November will be Chanukah. Please RSVP to Molly Blumer at mblumer@tidayton.org.
